TRIBUTE FOR UNCLE JOHN

"That He May Remember the Friendship and Respect of the Men of Hamilton."

The final tribute to "Uncle" John Crossley was paid at the College dinner in Commons, Friday night. Faculty and Undergraduates united in frank expression of their regard for "Uncle John" and affectionate regret at his leaving Hamilton. There was no dissenting voice, no discussion of irrelevancies; the evening was "Uncle's", to be honored. Fom the spontaneous cheering when he entered Commons to the last strains of Carissima before the Gym., "Uncle John" was the object of the enthusiasm of the College.

Commons was filled. The call to honor "Uncle" brought out more men than any other call to a College meeting has succeeded in bringing together. On "Uncle John's" entry, the College rose in a wild demonstration of enthusiasm and cheered for five minutes after he was safely seated at the head of the Senior table. The Faculty members having escaped mutilation at the hands of rival classes desirous of their company, the dinner, necessary but incidental, was served.

A double-long yell for "Uncle"—all standing—followed, and thruout the evening the College rose when "Uncle John" was named for a cheer.

The Faculty, sometimes reluctant to address such a critical gathering a the College body, seemed only too glad to speak with "Uncle John's" services to Hamilton as a theme. Professor Wood was the first to praise "Uncle's" efforts to bring about a clean, healthy and vigorous spirit in Hamilton athletics. He paid a tribute to "Uncle's" personality and his optimistic influence in life on the Hill. Every direct compliment was received with spontaneous applause, and the speech was followed by yells for the speaker and for "Uncle John."

Professor Babcock, after several introductory anecdotes, told of his acquaintance and friendship with "Uncle John", from his first sight of him racing against a horse in Barnum & Bailey's ring.

The Quartet then appeared with a song proclaiming that "Uncle John built the Ark," and the College, prepared to believe that "Uncle John" can do almost anything, cheered the information.

In praising "Uncle John's" squareness, Professor Davenport expressed the opinion that "Uncle" probably knew lots of things about Hamilton men that wouldn't sound well to the Faculty. The College cheered their confidence in "Uncle."

Professor Ward took advantage of his position as last speaker to scurf those who had preceded him, but concluded with real regret at "Uncle John's" departure.

For the Undergraduates, representatives of each class spoke briefly of their relations with "Uncle": Robinson for 1904, Porter for 1913, DuBois for 1912, and Wisehart for the Seniors. Porter's praise that "Uncle" had never flunked a man out was greeted with wild applause, and Wisehart's bit of pure sentiment was also heartily cheered.

But when "Stan" Jones for the College presented "Uncle" with a silver loving-cup, pandemonium broke loose. For "Uncle" had to make a speech, and he had a hard time. His feeling was too strong to express easily. "I wrote five speeches," he said, "and can't remember one." He promised a bright future for Hamilton athletics and concluded, in recognition of the tribute of the College: "I thank you from my heart."

A long yell was followed by an informal reception. Then the College, singing "Oh, you are the stuff," escorted "Uncle" to the Gym. where "Carissima" concluded the celebration.

The wish inscribed on the loving cup "That 'Uncle John' may remember the friendship and respect of the men of Hamilton," will be fulfilled.

COLLEGE HEARS DR. HUBER

Tuberculosis — Its Prevention and Cure — Discussed in Interesting Lecture Thursday Night.

On Thursday last, the College had the pleasure of hearing two lectures by Dr. Huber, '87, now a practicing physician in New York City, and one of the foremost authorities on pulmonary diseases and sanitation, on which subjects he has delivered many lectures and has contributed articles to all the leading magazines. Prof. Morrill is to be thanked for persuading him to come.

Dr. Huber took as a topic for his afternoon lecture, "The Influence of Disease upon History." He briefly sketched the terrible history of some of the great scourges in ancient and modern nations: the frightful fatality which attended the presence of these wide-spread epidemics and the effect they had upon economic, social, and political life.

Of great interest was his explanation of how the plagues of which we read in the Bible and ancient history are demonstrated to have been diseases, the causes and attendant circumstances of which we are now fully aware. Not only did disease make appalling inroads upon the population, but it also left an indelible impression upon the thought and temperament of nations. The terror inspired by visitations and recollections of visitations of plagues has been woven into literature: "The Red Plague" of Poe, and "The Wandering Jew" are citable works symbolical of the phenomena of disease, its insidiousness, its propagation and its devastation. The degeneration of those characteristics of the ancient Greeks, strength of body, courage, patriotism, and sensibility to the arts and sciences, which made their nation the personification of glory, was due to the nation-wide incursions of the enervating malarial germ. Modern labor-unions owe their initiation to disease, for, during the period of industrial unrest

THE EASTER TRIP.

The Musical Clubs will start on the annual Easter trip, Friday, March 31, to be gone until April 8. The first concert, on March 31, will be at Seneca Falls, in the Masonic Hall, for the benefit of the First Presbyterian Church.

On April 1, the Clubs go to Rochester, where they will give a concert under the auspices of the Central Class of the Central Presbyterian Church. After the concert, they will be entertained at a smoker at the University Club. Part of the members will spend Sunday in Rochester; part in Albion.

On Monday, April 3, a concert will be given in the auditorium of the Albion High School, after which there will be a dance and reception by the Alumni.

Tuesday, the Clubs will be in Buffalo. A committee, composed of Sicard, '06, chairman, Van Allen, '02, MacDonald, '06, and Osborne, '09, are enthusiastically preparing for the concert, which will be at the Twentieth Century Club.

No definite arrangements have been made for a concert on Wednesday, but Manager Anibal is negotiating for one at Batavia, Canandaigua, Waverly, Addison, or Lockport.

The next concert, on Thursday, will be given under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. in Binghamton, where the Clubs have been so heartily received in former years.

On Friday, a concert will be given in either Oneonta or New Rochelle; substantial guarantees have been promised in each town.

The trip will end in Holyoke, Mass., where the concert will be in charge of the Alumni of that city, who are very anxious to hear the Clubs and have gone to considerable expense to secure the opportunity.

The Chicago trip, which has created such great expectations, has been cancelled because the committee in charge was unable to secure the required guarantee. This disappointment has, of course, made impossible the concerts scheduled for Paulding, Lima, and Warren, Ohio, and has made it very difficult to arrange other dates in so short a time. Nevertheless, Manager Anibal expects the trip to be most successful, even tho the long jumps from Buffalo to Binghamton and Holyoke will make the expenses very heavy.

EDITORIAL.

With this issue, the newly-elected Board of Editors assumes control of the destinies of Life. This is the occasion of which the Board is expected to take opportunity to pay its respects to the outgoing management, and to outline, as well as can be done, the future policy of the paper.

Primarily, we believe, Life was intended to furnish a medium thru which the revolutionary element in the student body might make known its grievances, especially those against the Faculty. No subject was sacred to the Editor's vitriolic pen; even Prex's sermons were analyzed and the philosophy thereof scathingly denounced. (The old files of Life are well worth reading.)

But we have grown conservative in these piping times. Not too conservative, however, for Life has maintained and shall continue to maintain that the College and Alumni are entitled to a voice in the executive policy of the authorities. Pursuant to this declaration, we shall emphatically advocate the proposed Alumni Council advisory to the Board of Trustees, and we gladly offer the advantages of these columns if they are desired to further its organization. We welcome the views of Alumni and Undergraduates alike concerning any feature of College activity or control which one may consider advisable to correct. We shall endeavor to satisfy the desires of the Undergraduates for a readable paper by continuing the breezily frivolous articles on incidents deserving such treatment; we shall try to keep Alumni subscribers well informed of College affairs by comprehensive news items—to make Life both interesting and instructive. We hope to issue a paper truly representative of the College at large by encouraging students not on the Board to submit articles, especially those requiring a more complete knowledge than is to be found on the Staff.

To have manifested the above is to have already announced our entire appreciation of the aim and work of Mr. Mitchell and his assistants in regard to their fixed editorial policy—such as theirs has been, so is ours. Life, during the past year, has enjoyed a distinct improvement; Undergraduates and Alumni unite in affirming this. In the treatment of topics requiring editorial comment, Mr. Mitchell, by his striking yet not spectacular articles, has struck deep. But of far more importance to Life, he has succeeded in arousing in the members of the Board a hearty and continuous interest in the publication, a sense of responsibility, which sentiment has done much to effect the enthusiasm and cooperation essential to stability. Mr. Mitchell has done well; he has made his influence felt in large measure; he has worked hard for a better paper and we hope to be able to feel, when we, in turn, are relegated to unofficial positions, that we have accomplished as much.

In regard to the probability of our maintaining the present high standard of Life, we are apprehensive; we recognize our limitations, and for them we ask your indulgence. But what's the use of further discussion! Expect that Life will endeavor to continue in the same channel—when there is anything to be said, it shall be said.

The welcome accorded "Uncle John" last Friday night must have been exceedingly gratifying to him. In a small way, it showed the appreciation of the College for the interest he has taken in all things Hamiltonian.

To attempt to add to the generous commendation bestowed upon "Uncle" by the several speakers at the farewell dinner seems wellnigh futile. But Life desires to show that in no way does it fall short of others in appreciation of our loss. It will seem strange without "Uncle." His cheery greeting, his ready sympathy, his hearty encouragement to all neophytes in gym-work, even his chiding sallies at the advocates of physical tranquillity—all have endeared him to us. and have left an ineffaceable impression upon the college memories of his pupils. When all is said, a no more fitting tribute than Dr. Davenport's can be given—"Uncle was square."

With regret do we bid him Godspeed. May he be as successful in his future field of activity as he has been with us on the Hill.

INDOOR RECORDS BROKEN.

Thursday afternoon a small track contest was held in the Gym. Two indoor records were broken. Wenigmann, '13, broke the shot-put record with a put of 36 feet 9 inches, breaking by 5½ inches the former record of Baldwin, '10. In the high dive, both True, '13, and Lyon, '14, broke the record of 5 feet 9 inches. Lyon set the record at 5 feet 11 inches. True, '13, won the high jump with a jump of 5 feet 1 inch, while Clapp, '13, twice cleared 9 feet in the pole vault. The whole afternoon's work gave indications of some promising material for the track team.

—Among the Alumni on the Hill recently were, Huber, '87, Parmelee, and Stone, '99, Macnaughton, '00, Cookingham, '01, Sherman, '06, Clark, '07, Cody, '08, Butler, and Osborn, '09, and Getman, '10.

COLLEGE HEARS DR. HUBER.

in England in the twelfth century, a great epidemic of the Bubonic plague so depleted the number of artisans that the survivors were few enough to form monopolistic combinations of labor — the gilds. The Panama Canal would now have been abandoned, as it was by the DeLesseps company, had not Col. Gorgas carried on a vigorous campaign of sanitation so that, instead of remaining one of the most unhealthy spots in the whole world, the Canal Zone is now one of the most salubrious.

Dr. Huber said in conclusion: "No philosophy of history is adequate without a realization of the influence of disease."

His evening lecture was with the assistance of the stereopticon on "Tuberculosis in New York City." He gave a prefatory history of the germ theory, its growth, and its final establishment by Pasteur and Koch.

Very lucidly, he illustrated the methods of infection and the populization of the body by the tubercles or germ colonies. Inhalation, tuberculous meat and milk are the most common media thru which the germs are introduced, but before there can be a dangerous increase in the number of germs, there must be a predisposed condition for their growth. Predisposition is caused chiefly by overpopulation with the consequent curtailment of fresh air, a condition preeminently responsible for the frightful rate of mortality in the so-called "Lung Block"—the block bounded by Cherry and Hamilton streets—and by the bodily enervation due to the effects of cheap whiskey.

That a vigorous crusade against this disease is immediately necessary is shown by the calculation that tuberculosis is responsible for from one-fourth to one-third of all the deaths among adults. Prevention is simple since cleanliness and fresh air are almost infallibly effectual; recovery is possible in a large majority of cases, five rules are observed: proper care of spittle, complete rest, plenty of fresh air and sunshine, nutritious food, and properly administered medicines. Out-door sleeping is advised to all, diseased or healthy.

Dr. Huber paid high compliment to the work of the Tenement Commission and closed by naming the men to whose efforts we owe our knowledge of and cure for this insidious disease: Pasteur, Koch, Bodington, Braemer, and Trudeau.

THE GRAND CANYON.

That the dangers of exploration and the interest in geological investigation are not confined to dashes for the Pole was amply demonstrated in the Chapel Monday evening when Mr. Ralph W. Stone, '99, presented an extremely interesting lecture on the "Grand Canyon of the Colorado." For the last ten years Mr. Stone has been in the employ of the United States Geological Survey, travelling on an average of at least 10,000 miles a year. During 1905 he spent the Winter season in Alaska, reaching the Arctic Circle. On the following year, in company with a small party of geologists, Mr. Stone made an extensive tour thru the Grand Canyon. Upon information thus gained his lecture was based.

After detailing the history of the early exploration of the Canyon and the early adventures of the Spanish Padres, Mr. Stone gave an exhaustive account of a modern journey thru the gorge, describing the coloring, the rock formation and the dangers of the treacherous currents. Of particular interest were the pictures showing the adobe dwellings of the early cliff-dwellers. In speaking of the almost incredible depth of the Canyon, Mr. Stone said that, were it possible to move mountains, the whole Adirondack system could be turned upside down into the valley of the Colorado and yet there would be room for a small part of the Catskills.

Mr. Stone is spending the present winter in Washington, D. C., but will next year return West to take up further investigation. In conversation with a Life reporter he made the statement that Arctic exploration undoubtedly had its value, but as for himself, he preferred to take his chances on a sandy desert with a mule and water for twenty-four hours than risk his life on unknown seas. As regards Alaska, he believes that the future of the country is exceedingly bright. "The laws must be changed, and that before long. The present statutes allowing power-of-attorney to be given promiscuously to speculating schemers should be stopped. At present it is possible for a man to stake out a claim for himself, then one, five or even twenty, for friends in the States."

—Most of the second round of the Bowling Club has been rolled off. Woods, '13, has been high score man, with a total of 537 for three games. He will be in the finals. The alleys will be open only once or twice during exam. week, and will not be open next term.

—At a meeting of the Senior Class after Saturday Chapel, it was decided not to have the Senior Ball during Commencement Week. However, so as not to relinquish the custom entirely, the class will attempt to hold a dance earlier in the term. A committee was appointed to arrange for the Senior Banquet to be held next term.

—Harris of Utica, the photographer who took the Junior Class pictures, is making the same offer to other men in College—that of a special mount and a special price. He will be on the Hill one day next term for any who may desire to avail themselves of the opportunity. Appointments may be made thru Stone, '13, or by direct communication with Harris, 7 Arcade, Utica.

ALUMNI DINNER.

The annual dinner of the Alumni Association of Western New York was held last Friday night in the Buffalo Club at Buffalo. Clarence U. Carruth, '89, was toastmaster, and J. W. Van Allen, '02, was secretary of the dinner.

Dr. Stryker was the principal speaker and he took occasion to sound his ideas on the present-day trend of educational institutions towards what he termed " makeshift education," and to make a strong plea for a return to the classical training.

Other speakers were: Judge I. N. Signor, '70, of Albion, Reubin R. Lyon, '79, of Bath, Judge Warren B. Hooker, '99, of Chautauqua, Franklin D. Locke, '64, Philip A. Laing, '80, W. S. Rann, '83, and C. H. Fenn, '81, dean of the Union Theological Seminary at Pekin, China, who spoke of the work of Hamilton men in the Orient.

INTRAMURAL BASKET-BALL.

Progress was made in the long deferred basket-ball tournament, Friday evening, when 1912 defeated 1911 and the Freshmen roundly trounced the Sophomores. 1911 was handicapped by dearth of material. Owing to disagreements, the schedule is in somewhat of a jumble. This can be set at rights by another game between the Underclassmen, and the winner of this meeting the Juniors in the battle-royal. Last Friday's games were featured by "Conservative Bump" Jones, Regin, '12, Woods, '13, Flagg and Erhardt, '14.
